

Dan DeVoy

Human Resources Manager, Imperial Irrigation District

Mr. DeVoy oversees the department responsible for employing more than 1,300 people, many of whom work in diverse, and sometimes complex, jobs. The department manages employee benefits, employment and compensation, employee training and development services, and security, claims and investigations.

Mr. DeVoy's experience includes collective bargaining, employee relations and working with staff and departments to ensure consistent application of personnel policies.

He joined IID in 2006, after having worked for the county of Imperial for six years. During that time, he served as human resources and risk management director, where he managed day-to-day operations of the department for the county, which employs more than 2,000 people. Prior to his service at the county, he was director of human resources for El Centro Regional Medical Center.

Mr. DeVoy holds a master's degree in business administration from California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, and a bachelor's degree in agricultural business management from California Polytechnic University, Pomona.

His professional and community involvement include: member of County Personnel Administrators Association of California; board member of the California State Association of Counties Excess Insurance Authority; member of the California Public Employers Labor Relations Association; member of Imperial Valley Employer's Consortium; chair of Imperial Valley EEOC Advisory Council, and board positions with the Private Industry Council of Imperial County.
